1. ABOUT THIS UNIT

The unit examines topics in international trade law. It considers both public and private international trade law. Public international trade law deals with the global trading regimes such as the World Trade Organisation in conjunction with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (WTO-GATT), which regime governs trade between nations. Private international trade law deals with the rules governing private party transactions, such as the content of an international contract for the sale of goods, or the methods available for paying for the international delivery of goods, or the rules governing transport of these goods.

The online law databases available through the university homepage are very useful. These include:

Case Base facilitates searches for Australian legal materials, and provides links to these. (If a case is not available through one of the commercial reports – for example, the library does not subscribe to the Australian Law Reports in electronic format – try the parallel BC..... link.)

Hein Online is for searching journal articles.

LexisNexis AU is for searching local primary (cases, legislation) and secondary (articles) materials.

LexisNexis affords a facility for searching for primary and secondary materials from a number of jurisdictions. Although it focuses on US materials it is also a good source for materials from other jurisdictions.

Westlaw international also provides a trans jurisdictional search facility for primary and secondary materials.

Some tips for using these databases – click the Natural Language option; key in fewer rather than more words, so as to provide a wider net for searches (for example, take one distinctive word in the title of a case, if the full title does not get a hit); use AND or & in order to narrow a search (for example, waiver & arbitration will ensure that documents retrieved contain both words).

5. UNIT WEB PAGE

Study guides and timetable information on this unit can be found at:

<http://www.law.mq.edu.au/html/postgraduate/studyguides.htm>

6. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

This unit aims to develop an appreciation of the nature and role of international trade law, an understanding of its legal framework, and the instruments and institutions that underpin its operations. It aims to develop an understanding of the interpretation of the international instruments and the domestic laws that adopt these, and of the interrelationship between international and domestic law.

7. GENERIC SKILLS

The skills sought to be developed by the unit include critical analysis skills, and problem-solving skills, focused on the law and its institutions.

8. TEACHING AND LEARNING STRATEGY

The classes will take the form of a seminar. Ideally, you will read ahead of class.

9. ASSESSMENT

Assessment will be based on an essay of 5,000 (to a maximum of 7,000) words.

You may choose your topic, subject to approval by the unit convenor.

Otherwise, the convenor will suggest a list of possible topics. To be discussed in the first class. Assessment will take the form of an essay or essays.

Submission of essays:

Internal students – place a hard copy of the essay in the PG box outside room W3A 341, or mail to the unit convenor (details below).

External students – submit by post if this is more convenient, either by way of the COE folder provided, or mail directly to the unit convenor (Peter Gillies, Law Division, Macquarie University, NSW 2109).

DUE DATE: 5.00pm, Friday 28 November, 2008.

10. RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN ASSESSMENT AND LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Assessment is by way of an independent research project, which will foster the acquisition of knowledge specific to the subject matter of the unit, and the development of the more general skills of law-focused data searching, analysis, synthesis and written expression.

11. PLAGIARISM

THE DANGERS OF PLAGIARISM AND HOW TO AVOID IT

You will be guilty of Plagiarism:

If you take and use the work of another person without clearly stating or acknowledging your source, you are falsely claiming that material as your own work and committing an act of PLAGIARISM. This is a very serious violation of good practice and an offence for which you will be penalised. If you do any of the following in an assignment, or in any piece of work which is to be assessed, without clearly acknowledging your source(s) for each quotation or piece of borrowed material you are guilty of PLAGIARISM.

- (a) Copy out part(s) of any document, including computer and web-based material;
- (b) Use or extract someone else's concepts or experimental results or conclusions, even if you put them in your own words;

- (c) Copy out or take ideas or summarise from the work of another student, even if you put the borrowed material in your own words;
- (d) Submit substantially the same final version of any material as a fellow student. On occasions, you may be encouraged to prepare your work with someone else, but the final form of the assignment you hand in must be your own independent endeavour.

There is nothing wrong in using the work of others as a basis for your own work, nor is it evidence of inadequacy on your part, provided you do not attempt to pass off someone else's work as your own.

All students should acquaint themselves with the University's policy on Plagiarism before commencing any assignments
<http://www.student.mq.edu.au/plagiarism/>

12. UNIVERSITY POLICY ON GRADING

The University requires all Divisions to adhere to a policy relating to the distribution of grades across high distinction, distinction, credit and pass grades. This means that on occasion a student's raw mark for a unit (ie, the total of their marks for each assessment item) may not be the same as that which they receive on their transcript. This is because the total raw mark may be scaled up or down so that the grades of all students in each unit sit within the distribution bands set down by the University. The policy does not require that any number of students are to be failed in any unit.

13. LIBRARY SUPPORT FOR POSTGRADUATE STUDENTS IN LAW

Macquarie University Library offers a wide range of services and resources to postgraduate students. Go to the Library website <http://www.lib.mq.edu.au>.
